To whom it may Concern,

DMG is a concrete placing company who specialise in the construction of large commercial projects. A rare requirement on one of our smaller projects the Merewether Surf House, Newcastle was to provide a grit blasted surface finish to a beach promenade concrete pavement.

Surface Removal Specialists were contracted to complete the surface grit blasting to the required areas within a strict timeframe. As the landmark project was under the watchful eye of the public and only days from opening I was concerned with the safety, environmental affect, and mess that usually comes with grit blasting. I was pleased to be shown otherwise by the professional team at SR Specialists who performed the grit blasting using the correct equipment within a controlled environment, continuously containing sand/water and leaving adjacent building elements in the condition they were found.

The final finish produced by SR Specialists was accurate to the specification. DMG would not hesitate to use SR Specialists on future projects and would happily recommend their services.

Yours faithfully,

Adam Campbell
